

ABSTRACT

The invention provides a composition and a method for preventing or 5 ameliorating the causes of chronic allograft rejection of a donor organ by a transplant recipient. The method includes concomitant administration to the allograft recipient of therapeutically effective amounts of cyclosporin and 2-chlorodeoxyadenosine. The composition comprises a combination of these two immunosuppressive drugs in therapeutically effective amounts suitable for the practice of the method.

10